

Handprint Mammoths

Create a pair of cute mammoths with your own handprints!
A simple way for you and a grown-up to make some adorable mammoth art using paint and a little bit of imagination!

You will need:

- Light brown paint • Light grey paint
- A black felt tip pen or marker
- Green paint or felt tip pens/crayons for the grass

Why not create a whole herd of mammoths with your friends and family?

1

Cover your hand with brown paint and create two handprints next to each other. The grown-up should use their right hand and the child should use their left hand. Make sure the tops of your fingers are at about the same level, and your thumbs touch.

2

Allow the paint to dry fully, then use the grey paint to add tusks and eyes. Allow to dry, then use the black felt tip to finish the eyes and draw the shape of the ears and tail.

3

Finally, add grass to the bottom of the picture. You could even stick pieces of real wool to the mammoths to look like their woolly coats!
